

Step 2: Using Adverbs to Express Time

Introduction

Identify the adverbs from the words below.

whisper

outside

today

stumble

early sneak gently

angrily

hungrily

upstairs

Introduction

Identify the adverbs from the words below.

whisper

outside

today

stumble

early

sneak

gently

angrily

hungrily

upstairs

Varied Fluency 1

Circle the adverbs of time.

timidly

defiantly

recently

rotate

yesterday

already

Varied Fluency 1

Circle the adverbs of time.

timidly

defiantly

recently

rotate

yesterday

already

Varied Fluency 2

Which adverb of time will complete the sentence below?

Yesterday Already Lately

_____, I helped my mum to clean the dirty dishes and then she read a story with me.

Varied Fluency 2

Which adverb of time will complete the sentence below?

Yesterday

Already

Lately

Yesterday, I helped my mum to clean the dirty dishes and then she read a story with me.

Varied Fluency 3

Tick the sentence that includes an adverb of time.

A. Lately, the basketball team have won all their matches because they work together.

B. Foolishly, Jess passed the ball to the opposition and they scored in the final minute.

C. The girls ran wildly around the basketball court because they had won the cup.

Varied Fluency 3

Tick the sentence that includes an adverb of time.

A. Lately, the basketball team have won all their matches because they work together.

B. Foolishly, Jess passed the ball to the opposition and they scored in the final minute.

C. The girls ran wildly around the basketball court because they had won the cup.

Varied Fluency 4

True or false? The following sentence includes an adverb of time.

At the sound of the bell, everybody stopped playing immediately and went to line up.

Varied Fluency 4

True or false? The following sentence includes an adverb of time.

At the sound of the bell, everybody stopped playing immediately and went to line up.

True.

Reasoning 1

Tick the boxes to show where the adverb, tomorrow, could best fit in the sentence below.

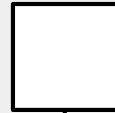

Samuel will be travelling on a plane to go visit his grandparents in New Zealand.

Prove it.

Reasoning 1

Tick the boxes to show where the adverb, tomorrow, could best fit in the sentence below.

Samuel will be travelling on a plane to go visit his grandparents in New Zealand.

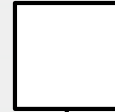

Prove it.

Tomorrow can go in both places.

Reasoning 1

Tick the boxes to show where the adverb, tomorrow, could best fit in the sentence below.

Samuel will be travelling on a plane to go visit his grandparents in New Zealand.

Prove it.

Tomorrow can go in both places.

Tomorrow, Samuel will be travelling on a plane to go visit his grandparents in New Zealand.

Samuel will be travelling on a plane to go visit his grandparents in New Zealand tomorrow.

Reasoning 2

Kara has written a sentence including an adverb of time. Has she used the correct adverb of time?

Immediately, Tom has not been scoring as many goals for his football team.

Explain your answer.

Reasoning 2

Kara has written a sentence including an adverb of time. Has she used the correct adverb of time?

Immediately, Tom has not been scoring as many goals for his football team.

Explain your answer.

Kara is incorrect because...

Reasoning 2

Kara has written a sentence including an adverb of time. Has she used the correct adverb of time?

Immediately, Tom has not been scoring as many goals for his football team.

Explain your answer.

Kara is incorrect because the sentence does not make sense. A better adverb would be recently.

Application 1

Write two sentences using two of the adverbs below.

eventually immediately recently

Application 1

Write two sentences using two of the adverbs below.

eventually immediately recently

Various answers, for example:

Recently, I have chosen to walk to school so I can be healthier.

It was snowing outside, but I eventually got to school.